

Essential Coaching Skills for School Leaders

A two-day course designed to support leaders to become 'coach like' in order to inspire, challenge and empower teams.

The Linwood Teaching School Alliance are delighted to be hosting a 2-day ILM recognised course:
Essential Coaching Skills for School Leaders.

- This 2-day course is led by Mal Krishnasamy, a highly successful educational consultant and former senior leader of 10 years.
- This course is a recognised ILM development programme and participants will obtain an ILM recognised certificate, student membership to the ILM and the option of supervision sessions to follow.

Mal Krishnasamy:

Mal is a former senior leader of ten years in a variety of London schools leading teaching & learning & CPD. As a consultant, she supports educational leaders through Institute of Leadership & Management (ILM) recognised coaching & leadership development courses or bespoke on-going support. Mal is also a facilitator at the Institute of Education for the NPQML/SL courses. She introduces a coaching culture to organisations and provides 1-1 coaching for teachers and leaders.

As a passionate advocate of staff & student well-being and gender equality, Mal is a member of the National SMSC Quality Mark Steering Group, a Network Leader for WomenEd, the Dorset Advocate for the MaternityCPD Project & a Gender Equality Charter Ambassador.

Day 1: Tuesday 12th November 2019, 9.00-3.30

Day 2: Tuesday 25th February 2020, 9.00-3.30

The cost for the two-day course is £195 per person for partner schools, £225 per person for non-partner schools, which includes ILM certification, lunch and refreshments for both days.

Venue; Linwood School

To book your place, please visit: www.bcpworkforcedevelopment.co.uk

LINWOOD
TEACHING SCHOOL ALLIANCE